Transfer License to another computer

When a license is activated on a machine, it is bound on that machine.

In order to activate your license on another machine, you need first to deactivate it from the current machine.
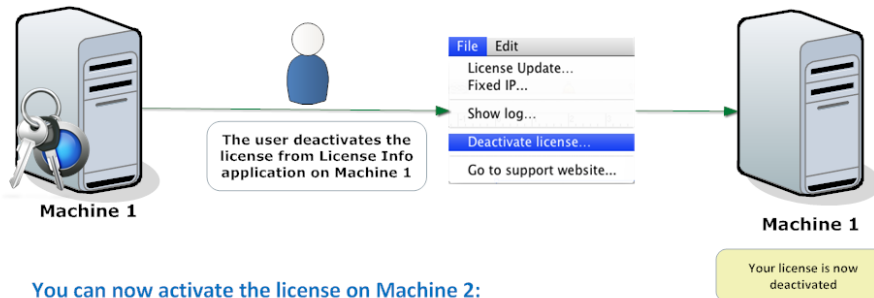

After the deactivation, you are able to activate the license on another machine.

How to transfer your license server from a machine to another

Having your license activated on Machine 1:

You want to transfer the license server on Machine 2, so you need first to deactivate it from Machine 1:

You can now activate the license on Machine 2: